Discover the Beauty of Golf

A Game of Culture and Lifestyle

The beauty of golf is not only to be found in the game itself. It is found in what golf represents and what it offers to its followers. It is found in the magnificent environment of the course itself and in the camaraderie, facilities and pristine views from the Clubhouse.

What other sport promises such an all-encompassing way of life, to be enjoyed on so many levels and on such a range of occasions? Golf lets you be with your family, get out with the boys, have a great time with the girls and build business and social relationships. As much as the enjoyable exercise of the game, these nurture your health and wellbeing. Gain needn't involve pain.

Whoever you are, golf offers you a recreational and social experience that is invaluable. A Glenelg Golf Club membership is what you're looking for.

For those who are time poor but recognise the value of sport and recreation, we offer the very popular options of 9-hole rounds and twilight golf. A sport that was once perceived as time-consuming now offers options suited to the lifestyle of the modern-day golfer.

Furthermore, Glenelg Golf Club have strategically managed membership numbers to eliminate the annoyance of over-crowded tee times. This is appreciated by all members.

We've introduced casual, more cost effective membership options such as 'Casual Pay as You Play' and 'Women's Try Golf' memberships. Our aim is to provide a range of new options for the modern day golfer.

Adding value to your membership is paramount, which is why our Member Focus Committee is constantly thinking of ways to service and benefit members.

Casual (PAYP) Pay as You Play – A fully flexible membership option, with discounted fee structures and the ability to pay as you play - maximising the dollars you save on your membership. For a small fee per game, this option gives you the flexibility to pay per round.

Junior Membership – Our Junior Development Program maintains interest and enthusiasm by providing a wide range of activities such as clinics, trips, social events and competitions that cater for every skill level.

With an active Junior sub-committee, we are focused on ensuring the best development for all junior members.

Coaching clinics are held on a regular basis, including Sunday mornings and school holidays, and cater for all skill levels. For select juniors showing signs of rapid development, we can arrange Elite Level Coaching tailored to their specific requirements.

Try our 3-month trial membership if you're unsure whether your young one is ready for full junior membership.

We're committed to junior development, which is why we have a Club Foundation providing funding to the Junior Development Program. Members and interested parties are encouraged to support the Club Foundation to secure long-term progression of junior golfers in South Australia.

Glenelg Golf Club aims to achieve a 100% recycled water rating for our course in 2010. We recognise the importance of sustainability.

The project is being successfully managed by our course maintenance team, and overseen by the State Government's Natural Resource Management Board. Funding has been evenly split between the Federal and State Governments and the Club.

Our 1.4 hectare wetlands system is home to more than 50,000 native plants. In addition to this, the Club has commenced a re-vegetation project, identifying areas for extensive native and selected pine tree plantings.

In our commitment to maintaining original landforms and characteristics, we've restored natural sand dunes. The revetted edge bunker, unique to South Australia, is revolutionary in eliminating the sand erosion caused by wind - and adds an extra challenge for golfers.
